

Did you know?

Expose your child to a variety of stories, authors, and illustrators so they have a chance to experience more and more new words, concepts, art, and cultures as possible.

Did you know?

Library storytimes are not just children. Caregivers can learn by watching library staff demonstrate good read-aloud skills. They can learn age-appropriate books, music, songs and activities to use at home. Visit the library's website (jeaneslibrary.org) to find a convenient time to attend story time.

That's four hundred books!

Good job!
